Express Yourself!

Younger Students will:

- learn to draw what they see in a noncompetitive, creative environment
- experience multi-media painting and illustration projects
- develop self-esteem through their drawing success

Older Students will:

- experience mixed media projects while refining their drawing skills and learning traditional and new rendering techniques

We will use markers, watercolors, pastels, and other mediums.

Betsy DeMarco writes, "I don't remember a time in my life I have not loved to draw and paint. When I was in the 5th grade I won a contest for drawing a cartoon character, Road Runner. Then at age fourteen I painted my bedroom full of flowers, cattails, and pussy willows. Having gone to school to learn sign language I was brought back to art while painting a mural in my first sons room. 22 years later, I have not stopped painting. I have been blessed with a wonderful life of painting murals, custom canvas's, along with many other types of decorative painting. I began as a self-taught artist but have since studied at Paier Art Institute, Creative Art Studio and Art Place."

Susan Jackson lived in CA for 12 years where she worked as an exhibit designer, a theatrical scenic designer, and a Walt Disney Imagineer. Always knowing in her heart that she wanted to teach children, in 1990 Susan found her way to the front of the classroom at the Monart School for the Arts in Santa Monica, CA. Since returning to CT Susan has been arranging and teaching drawing/art classes throughout Fairfield County. In 1999 Susan opened the Paint, Draw & More! Studio in Georgetown, CT and along with teaching children and adult classes, has been teaching training workshops for teachers to use drawing as a teaching tool in the classrooms of public schools.
